yapping

Short videos from real creators, made for tech brands.

Action, then talk.

Yapping is where tech brands get short videos from real creators, shot on a phone. The mark tells that story in one shape.

The clapper: recording

Every Yapp is filmed. The stick is open and tilted up, the moment before "action".

The bubble: a real person talking

Not an ad voice. A creator talking about a product they actually used.

The dots: your Yapp is being made

Typing dots, the last one green and live. They carry over from the first Yapp logo, so the brand keeps its memory.

One logo, five forms.

Always use the master SVG files. Never retype the wordmark or redraw the mark.

Primary lockup

Website header, documents, decks, partner pages.

Mark

When the name is already on screen.

Small mark

12–20px only, like the browser tab. No dots.

yapping

On dark

Bubble and word turn white. Stick stays green.

yapping

Wordmark

Funnel Display Bold, −0.045em, outlined. Only where the mark already appears nearby.

Room to breathe.

Clear space

Keep x free on every side, where x is the height of the bubble. Half of x for the mark alone inside the interface. No text, edges or other logos inside it.

Minimum size

Lockup	96px wide · 25mm print
Mark with dots	20px tall
Small mark	12px tall

Don't.

× Recolour the bubble

× Bring back red, or change the dot colours

× Move the green dot

× Straighten or close the clapper

× Stretch or squash

× Add shadows, glows or 3D

× Retype the wordmark

× Place on busy video without a scrim

Green is a signal, not a wallpaper.

Rules

Text on green is always #0B0B0C, never white.

Green text on light: use #0A7A33. Chart lines: #1FC75A.

Red #E5483B is only for alerts and the notification dot, never the logo.

No gradients behind content, no extra brand hues.

Inter, and nothing else.

Weights 400, 500 and 600. Sentence case. Big numbers are deliberately light.
